Pent Up! is a high-energy rock band formed in 2021 amidst the boredom and isolation of the COVID-19 pandemic. As the world ground to a halt, drummer Nate Oelrich, guitarist Brendan Honeycutt, and bassist Jay Barrett started jamming together in a basement. By 2022, the newly christened Pent Up! had started writing songs, releasing music, and blowing the roof off of every Seattle area club that would have them. In 2023, guitarist Nick Kurtz came aboard to round out the lineup, adding his considerable melodic chops to the band's crackling live energy.

Pent Up! combines driving rhythms and catchy songcraft with punk energy and abandon. Their songs blend power pop and punk rock with hints of 90s alt-rock heroes like Dinosaur Jr. and Foo Fighters, with lyrics aimed at the head as well as the heart.

In March of 2022, the band released their first single, Self-Titled, off their debut EP, Pretty Good. They flexed their DIY muscles on their next single release, self-producing The End and a cover of The Cure's Just Like Heaven. On stage the band found plenty of success, opening for national (Tantric) and international (Australia's Big League) touring acts, as well as successfully headlining an epic show at the High Dive in Fremont.

In 2023, Pent Up! seeks to go even bigger, better, and bolder with numerous releases planned, and plenty of live performances to help spread their brand of rambunctious rock to fans new and old. This year is a rocking party, and Pent Up! is ready to bring the house down.
